FOR RECRUITERS AND HIRING TEAMS

Hire with confidence in languages no standard test covers.

Checking a candidate's level in Kurmanji, Somali or Sudanese Arabic is hard: there is usually no recognised test, and interviewers rarely speak the language. Targumi gives you a short, job-specific test, built with native speakers, and a clear answer for every candidate.

How it works

1

Brief us

The language, the role and the level you need. That is all we ask.

2

Candidates take the test

A short, job-specific test on their phone, with listening built on native audio. One single-use link each.

3

You decide with clear results

A CEFR level and a recommended or borderline verdict for every candidate, plus a dashboard for the whole group.

A global BPO needed to assess content moderators in Kurmanji and found no other provider. We delivered the first test links within a week, and the client came back for a second batch.

SAMPLE DATA

Kurmanji · Content moderators

Required level: B1 · 6 candidates

CANDIDATE	OVERALL	LISTENING	READING	VERDICT
Candidate A	B2	C1	B2	Recommended
Candidate B	C1	C1	C1	Recommended
Candidate C	B1	B2	B1	Recommended
Candidate D	A2	B1	A2	Borderline
Candidate E	B2	B2	B1	Recommended
Candidate F	A1	A2	A1	Not recommended

What you get

A verdict against your bar

Each result is read against the level you require, not a generic score.

Cohort dashboard

Every candidate side by side, with levels by skill.

Built with native speakers

Listening on native audio, questions reviewed by native speakers.

Integrity you can trust

Signals flag unusual sessions; a person reviews every flagged case.

Ready in about a week

A new language is set up within days, not months.

Private by design

Single-use links. Data hosted in the EU, deleted after 180 days.
